ABOUT US

OpusData, located in Beverly Hills, California, is brought to you by Nash Information Services, LLC, creators of the website The Numbers. NIS has been working for over a decade to help clients succeed by providing them the information they need at the highest standards of accuracy, timeliness, and transparency.

OpusData connects you directly to movie data through an easy-to-use search and query interface, the OpusData Explorer, and an Application Programming Interface (API). Developed to cater to a wide range of users with varying data needs and database expertise, the OpusData subscription service provides direct access to search, query, download and manipulate movie data.

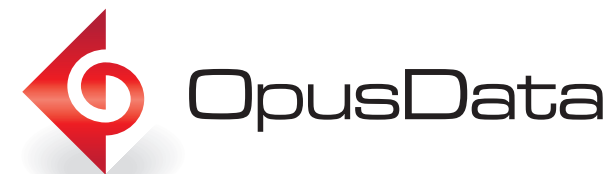

Unlike other movie data services, OpusData provides information beyond movie box office data. You can now access production budgets, video sales, detailed cast and crew lists, release schedules, and much more. With our data API, the uses for the service are literally unlimited.

Whether you want to research movie data for a business plan, analyze industry financial data, or incorporate movie information into a website or mobile application, OpusData provides the tools and technology to help you succeed with instant access to the industry's most in-depth collection of financial information.

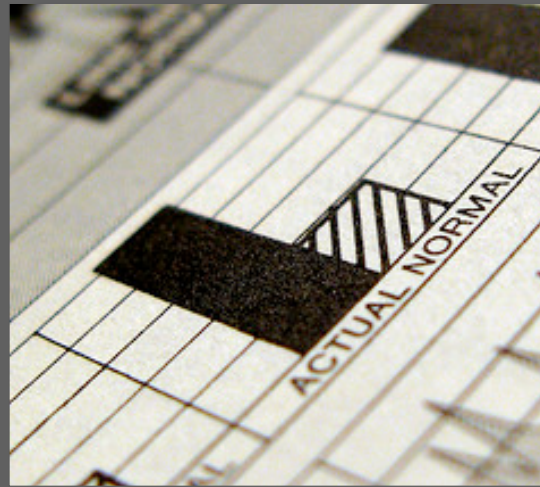

OUR DATA

OpusData is the most in-depth movie financial database available, containing information on 15,000 movies, including budgets, US and international box office, US home market consumer sales, and biographical information on over 18,000 actors, directors, producers and technicians.

OpusData is backed by a rigorous classification methodology that makes it possible for independent producers, investors and industry researchers to build accurate financial models and to measure the performance of individual movies, production companies, studios, market segments, and the industry as a whole.

OPUSDATA RESOURCES

The OpusData Explorer and API provides truly innovative ways for users to search, query, and manipulate data. Custom widgets allow the information to be shared in external applications and web sites.

DEVELOP AND EXTEND

OpusData introduces a new Application Programming Interface (API) for enterprise customers and software developers. Now you can integrate our data with your corporate databases for maximum flexibility. The API also allows you to write applications to use and share our extensive archive of movie financial information with others.
